ARTIOS GALLERY

ABOUT ARTIOS GALLERY

Founded in 2016, Artios is a contemporary art gallery that features emerging, mid-career, and established artists. Artios Gallery has a deeply personal vision. The name itself reflects both identity and philosophy — a combination of the word “Art” and the first three letters of the founder’s last name, Iosilevich. It also resonates with the ancient Greek word Artios (ἄρτιος), meaning complete, whole, and perfectly formed. This meaning reflects the gallery’s philosophy: to create a sense of unity between artist, artwork, and collector.

The idea behind Artios was to create a platform where artists could gain meaningful professional exposure to the art market while receiving thoughtful curatorial attention. The goal was to build an environment that not only presented artwork but actively supported artists in shaping their presence, refining their vision, and establishing lasting connections with collectors.

What began as close collaboration with fellow artists — organizing presentations, refining curatorial direction, and introducing their work to collectors — gradually grew into a fully curated contemporary art gallery. Today, Artios remains dedicated to fostering long-term relationships between artists and collectors, presenting carefully curated exhibitions, and supporting artists with integrity, clarity, and purpose.
